Editors Notes: There's a lot to look forward to coming up. A Big Central States Show in St. Louis May 2,3 and 4, 2003. There is always lots of paper money at Central States. I have always looked forward to the Michigan State Show at Thanksgiving, Central States Spring Shows and Memphis in June. Paper, Paper, Paper. I have booked our room for Memphis as a group of us are coming down fro Wausau. I'll be taking a coin grading class in St. Louis...so between looking for paper and trying to get smarter, I'll be pretty busy right through the middle of June. \

Presidents Column:

January in Michigan is finding us dressed warmly as this is one of our coldest months of the year and this year it has been colder than usual.

Normally I am in florida for the winter, but this year I had a serious operation, Aortic aneurism, and am still at home. My operation was a real 'eye opener' to the little things of life for me, as I have been very active. Running my bulldozer, for example, the day before my operation. Now, I am slowed down to a crawl.

I missed the FUN Show in Florida this year for the first time in about 30 years. I have had reports from 6 people who said it was an average show... with 1000 dealers, how could it be average? Another said the cost and time of the trip exceeded the value, except for the sunshine. Another said there was no crowd in the aisles and no hustle-bustle. Another reported it was his first time there and could not compare it with other years. The others were dealers and said sales were brisk and they had a good show. I guess I always judged a show by how successful I was in purchasing items for my collection. If I was able to acquire a dozen or more banknotes or coins I would be happy and satisfied with that particular show. On the other hand, if I only added one item to my collection then the show would be labeled a dud. My shows of late are more for the meetings involved and the companionship rather than acquiring new additions as there is not much new material in the marketplace anymore. It seems E-bay holds more fascination than the shows and you can stay home for that. That's tough for me to say that, but that statement is a growing fact.

I will also miss the spring MSNS Show that will be held in early April at Mt. Pleasant, at the soaring Eagle Casino. Convention space was not available elsewhere, so this will be a big experiment. I will still be in florida, but would like to be at the show to mix in a little gambling.

After 35 years of collecting Michigan paper money, doing research, and gathering data, my book is near completion. It is in the hands of Krause Publications and they inform me it will be completed in early summer. It covers Michigan obsoletes, scrip and nationals. It is far more than a catalog in that it covers a lot of the history of each town and bank. It has 960 pages and in excess of 2100 illustrations of banks notes and bank buildings. It also includes the pricing of each illustrated note. This book will be a great reference for all Michigan paper money. It is really two books in one.

The name is 'Michigan Obsolete Bank and Scrip Notes of the 19th century and Michigan National Bank Notes 1863-1935' by Dr. Wallace Lee.

Hope you all enjoy this book as much as I did in producing it.

I just received a letter from Ed Rochette of the ANA thanking us for our $100 donation in memory of Stephen Taylor for the ANA Building Fund. If you get out West, be sure and visit the ANA in Colorado Springs.

Regards, Dr. Wallace Lee

OUR COVER THIS ISSUE: I have always enjoyed the 'Jackass note' that is featured on this quarter's Rag Picker. It's a circulated note from my collection that showcases Daniel Webster, a celebrated politician of the pre Civil War period. He sure has piercing eyes. But, the best part of this note is the Eagle at Bottom Center on the Face of this note. Turn him upside down and the white head of the Eagle becomes the muzzle of the head of a Jackass! It has been my observation that the application of a nickname to a note seems to drive up its popularity and....price...i.e. Buffalo, Indian Chief, Battleship, Technicolor, and that accounts for a lot of the fun in collecting large size type.

CLUB NEWS: Got news of the Massapequa Coin Clubs annual coin, currency and collectable show a bit late to be of any use to readers. I usually put the Rag Picker together in the middle of the last month of the quarter, except for June when I try to get it out a bit earlier so readers receive it before the big Memphis Show. It was March 1, so mark the season on your calendar, and I'll try to get something in Oct-Dec issue next year...the timing makes for a lot of lead time on a March 1 date. I'm sure the Show was a big success because paper is HOT!. CCCC continues to put out their monthly newsletter and hold entertaining programs at monthly meetings...the secret to a successful club. This is a club you can belong to even if you only attend their Memphis Meeting, as the newsletter is worth the price of the dues. A highlight of their newsletter recently was a remembrance of some of the great collectors who were club members in life: Chuck O'Donnell, Mitch Hrynshyn, Al Burke, John Lamont, Earl Potrafke, Doug Walcutt, Bill Donlon, and Evelyn Saylor. If some of those names sound familiar to you, they should.

Fractional Currency Experimental Notes

by William Brandimore

Paper money was new to the Republic with the advent of the Civil War. There had been a few paper emissions that had bearer value, but until the country needed money to fight the Civil War, there had really been no need for the U.S. Government to stray from specie...gold and silver coinage.

The Colony of Massachusetts Bay had issued the first paper currency in the New World in the 1690's. Numerous Colonial emissions were made with the permission of the King and were more or less successful...notwithstanding that the Continental Currency of the Revolutionary War period begat the phrase 'not worth a Continental'.

China had issued paper currency constructed of mashed Mulberry bark centuries earlier and the French had used small paper notes backed by the value of the Seized property of the Roman Catholic Church in a similar shortage situation during their revolution.

Certainly, the Private Bank issues (Obsoletes) of the period 1800 to 1858 or so had given paper money a bad name and made common folks gravely suspicions about such instruments.

The plain fact was, however, there was not enough specie to buy war material and fight a great War. The Demand Notes of 1861 were the first notes issued by the U.S. and Fractional Currency was soon pressed into service to substitute for the small change which was being hoarded due to the uncertainty of the winds of war.

The first Fractional issue notes were printed in August of 1862 by the American and National Bank Note companies. Spencer Clark, however, Superintendent of the National Currency Bureau (forerunner of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing) felt that this could be accomplished more economically by government employees under his supervision.

Clark was to suffer numerous indignities for his efforts...but that's another story...perhaps, if we're fortunate, PMCM member Benny Bolin might respond with a story about Mr. Clark, as that is one of Benny's collecting specialties.

At any rate, the Second Issue notes would be printed by Government printers and numerous experiments would be employed to find the most efficient methods. Dry printing, wet printing, numerous colors, different sorts of inks, etc. Fractional Currency has been called the BEP's test laboratory, and, it was. One of the most interesting facets of that laboratory would be the Experimental's.

To best study these notes you really need a copy of Milt Friedberg's Fractional Currency Encyclopedia. The easiest way to get one of these is to join the Fractional Currency Collectors Board (FCCB) initialed after FCC Boyd, a great Paper money and Fractional collector of the early and middle 20th century. $30 gets you the first year's membership (a $15 value) and the club newsletters. It also gets you two books, the Simplified Encyclopedia and the Encyclopedia. This is Milt Friedberg's labor of love and gift to the Paper money collecting community. He describes all the Fractional notes, including numerous Second Issue Experimental's.

These notes are just exactly what the name implies...experimental printings by the Treasury to see which papers and inks worked the best. Many were printed on one side only, some on both. Some with, some without the characteristic Second issue bright bronze oval.

I bought my first experimental at a local Wisconsin Show. I recognized it because I had seen them in the Encyclopedia. I bought my next two, a ten cent pair, from Milt himself, at a Memphis Show in the late 80's. They were hard to find. I was interested in putting together a denomination type set, but could only find ten and twenty-five centers. Five cent and fifty centers are tougher.

One of the reasons they were so hard to find was because Milt had most of them! How do you collect something if a long time collector has been systematically accumulating them?

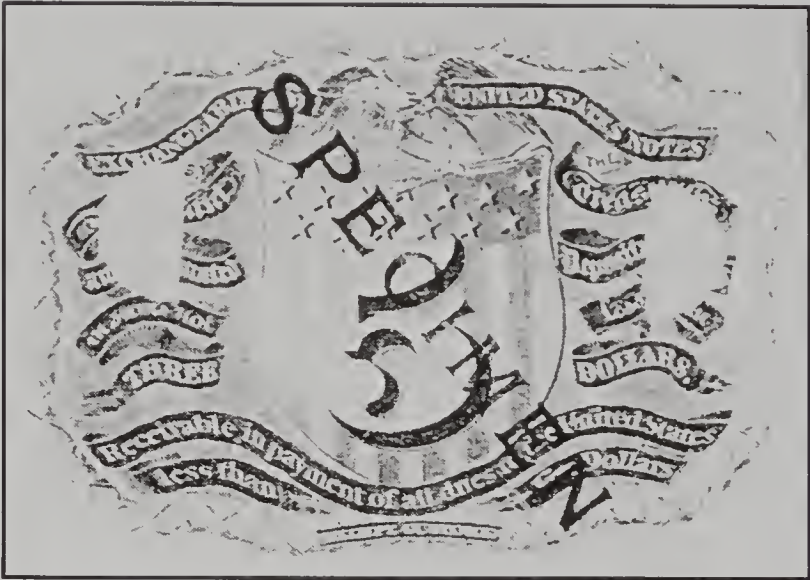

Fortunately for the Fractional Collectors, Milt decided to auction his enormous holdings at the FUN show auction of 1997. I was able to get most of the rest of my type set together at that time and now only lack a five cent face to complete a face and back type set of the four denominations.

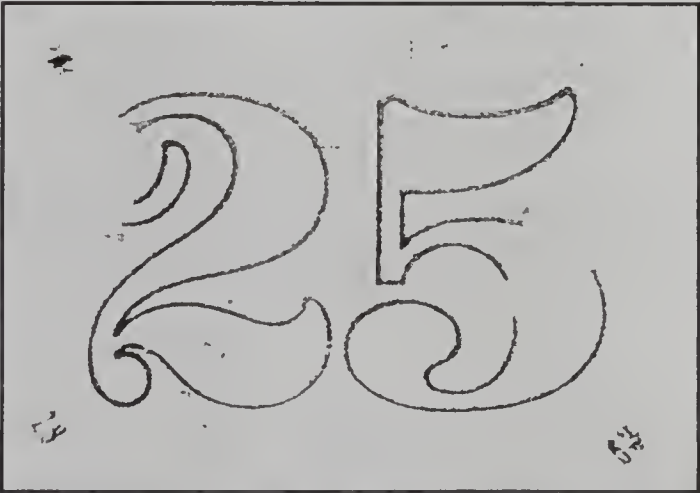

Almost all of the Experimental's are printed on heavy and generally fibrous paper. Even a larger majority have half-moon cancels on the faces (or backs.) This is because a number of these notes were retained by Mr. Clark in his private collection when he left office.

At his death, Clark's widow began to sell the notes to collectors, attracting the attention of Treasury Officials who felt Clark had held no special authority to remove Treasury Department property from the Treasury. It appears that they were not worth a great deal at the time, however, and the Officials decided to allow Mrs. Clark to retain the notes, but only after they had been appropriately cancelled...hence the half moon cut cancels apparent on nearly all the extent Experimental's.

Some of them have what appear to be early prices on the backs written in pencil. One of mine is valued at $1.20 and another at 70 cents. Prices today run from $125 or so for the most common varieties to a thousand or more for the rarer varieties.

Included with this article are photocopies of my type set. For more information, consult Milt's Encyclopedia. Or send me $30, as per instructions in my Want Ad in this issue on FCCB Membership!

This exchange list is open to all paid up PMCM Members. The members that are listed below would like to exchange current $1 FRNs to $100 FRNs. It is customary to send an SASE with your first inquiry, after which each pays their own postage. I have sent a letter to all members asking for their input on how to improve this listing. If you wish to be listed please send me your name and address along with which denominations you want to trade, and if applicable any special ending numbers. Our Chairman is Bob Azpiazu, PO Box 1629 St. Augustine FL 32085.
